Intergral GmbH:

Partnership with SAW AG

Böblingen, August 25, 2004. The Intergral GmbH, software and solution provider for the information and knowledge management market, and the SAW AG, expert for the planning, implementation and operation of Enterprise Content Management systems (ECM), agreed upon a strategic partnership.

Within the framework of this partnership the SAW AG will offer solutions based on Intergral's Tornado Business Center™. The cooperation provides the partners the option to enhance installations from existing customers as well as the possibility to win major projects by offering complete and conclusive solutions. "The combination of the highly flexible navigation and portal functions of the Tornado Business Center™ with the Digital Asset Management (DAM) of the SAW AG, provides the customers with an optimal functional range", explains David Tattersall, managing director of Intergral. In addition, the customers benefit from the comprehensive project experience and know-how that the SAW AG gained through many years of implementing and supporting document and knowledge management solutions.

Tornado Business Center™ is a web-based information portal for the intelligent administration and distribution of business information. Sophisticated personalization features, combined with flexible access rights, guarantee that each user receives exactly the information that he/she needs, on a personalized, just in time, business relevant basis. This ensures that information is found faster and can be used more efficiently. Through the use of innovative technologies Tornado Business Center™ can be deployed rapidly and thus deliver immediate benefits. Tornado Business Center™ offers performance, scalability, usability and functionality on enterprise level.

About SAW AG

The System Analyse Weissenbacher AG (SAW AG) supports enterprises with the planning, implementation and operation of Enterprise Content Management systems (ECM).

Founded in 1991 as a general IT system and service provider, the SAW AG entered the ECM market in 1997 with the formation of a new business unit.

Today well-known national and international enterprises are among the customers of the SAW AG. Dedicated and talented employees, strategic partnerships with relevant providers from the ECM market as well as the development of own products provide the basis for the SAW AG's business success.
